

Vividly Woman Creed

A Vividly Woman surrenders to her sensuality, passionately, letting her passion lead her.

She lives her passion as her power; the object of her passion is irrelevant.

She is passionate about passion.

A Vividly Woman grounds in both the light and the shadow, aware that darkness is a great master that reveals the light.

She intuits that whatever holds her back is a divine teacher aching to be discovered.

She honors her fears and hesitations, learns from them and lovingly nurtures herself to grow beyond them.

A Vividly Woman mobilizes with meaning through her being and creating, rather than her doing.

She knows that more is not better, that less can be infinitely sweeter, and that awakening is action too.

She loves, feeds and enjoys the fever that ignites her dance, as well as the dance itself.

A Vividly Woman finds wisdom in containment and stokes the coals before insisting on flames.

She craves more craving, knowing that the longing itself is the answer.

She grows and grounds to harness potential.

A Vividly Woman thirsts stubbornly to express her truth.

She risks the radiance of her joy and the healing power of celebration in her life.

She thrives on a steady explosion of energy well managed.

A Vividly Woman is always dancing, even in stillness, endlessly and vividly, dancing.

Copyright VividExistence Vividly Woman 2008